

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

Read the holiday "ads"

M. A. Miller was in Portland Monday and Tuesday.

J. W. Scanlan has moved to town to school his children.

Mr. A. C. Churchill, was a visitor at the county seat on Monday last.

The principal adornments of the Webster during the past few days has been rubber.

The rain during the past week has filled all the streams to overflowing.

The Santiam is away up.

A medical paper speaks of "mineral wool." It is probably that sort they shear from hydraulic rams.

J. W. Beard announces an elegant line of holiday goods at his drug store. They are, indeed handsome.

Christmas service at the Academy on Christmas evening by the M. E. Sunday school. All are invited.

The Portland World has a new head and has been otherwise improved.

We are glad to note this mark of its prosperity.

M. A. Miller's new "ad" informs the people that he has a very handsome and attractive line of holiday goods.

While the pleasant rains have been nurturing the valley, snow has been falling in the mountains.

The near foothills presenting a very frigid appearance.

Churchill & Monteith announces their determination to go out of business, and consequently their extensive stock of general merchandise is offered at cost. See "ad."

During this week our usually five town presented an appearance something akin to a deserted village.

Rain reigned supreme, and indoor amusements was the order of the day.

If we could only forget what we would forget, if we could remember only what we would remember, what a delightful picture gallery, what a store-house of sweet sounds, of pleasant sounds, of loving tones, would memory be.

While writing these lines, December 1st, with the mercury at 50 degrees above zero in the open air, we have before us a bouquet of flowers picked out of doors, consisting of roses, verbenas and daisies. Think of that ye dwellers in the Mississippi valley.—Plaindealer.

We present our readers with a supplement this week containing the President's message, with interesting department reports. Also the message of Governor Semple of Washington Territory. As a whole, the supplement is a very interesting paper.

An exchange very feelingly and truthfully says: "No matter how mean a man has acted towards his local paper, when death comes in, it is the first to cover up his faults, lay the laurel leaf upon his grave and commend him to the mercy of God."

G. A. Hunt, the contractor on the Oregon Pacific railroad above Mehama, has withdrawn a number of his teams and taken them to his farm in Benton county for the winter. Others will soon follow. Only a light force will be employed during the winter.

Now is the time to plan some pleasant evening entertainments or amusements for the little ones, against the time when the evenings shut in early and the windows must be closed, and the children deprived of their "after supper run" are restless and seeking other amusements.

Dr. J. L. Hill, of Albany, is making plans for a large fruit orchard, on his farm at Sodaville. The Dr. has a fine farm and with the improvements contemplated, will be one of the best in the county. His theories of running a farm, like those of his profession, are thoroughly practical, and worthy of example.

Some papers are saying that there are indications for an advance in wheat. While we will not see any such thing, we hope it will advance to figures at which the market will assume activity. Nothing is more needed to add life and activity to business and trade just now than a sufficient advance to induce farmers to sell.

Bill Nye writes to a bald-headed friend, who asks his advice about hair restoratives, as follows: "Take your hair restorative money and buy a town lot in a growing town that supports its home paper and advertises, and go ahead and you will be well fixed. A town in which is well fixed, don't care whether he has any hair or not."

We ask one of all, male and female, of our citizens, to hand us for publication any item of news which you may happen to know and thus enable us to make the EXPRESS one of the foremost local papers in the county. Stop us on the street, or anywhere else, to hand us items of interest to publish. Don't be backward, but stop us if you have to knock us down.

A man should never tire of saying good things about his town, and never begrudge his neighbor any success. Earth is faultless, and all have more or less difficulties to contend with. These difficulties should be met by every citizen with a strong and manly heart. Substantial encouragement and hearty endorsement are as essential to the welfare of a town as natural resources.

Read carefully the advertisements in the EXPRESS and then patronize the men that invite you through its columns to visit them. Never go where you are not invited, or where your presence might not be agreeable. A man who does not take interest enough in his business to let people know where he lives, certainly can lay no claim to their patronage and ought not to expect it.

TAILOR SHOP.—Mr. William Blank, formerly of Kentucky, late of Denver, Colorado, has opened a tailoring establishment in the room recently vacated by Mr. Hendrickson. It seems that a tailor ought to do well in Lebanon, and we hope Mr. Blank will receive sufficient patronage to induce him to remain permanently. He is a good workman.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE KIND OF GIRL TO HAVE.—On Saturday morning last, says the Yaquina Post, Miss Mollie Bergen heard the dog making a great racket and ran out to see what was the matter.

On opening the door and peering out she discovered a fine large deer jump into Poole's slough, which runs past her father's door. She stepped quickly into the house, picked up her father's Winchester, returned to the door, raised the rifle and fired. The first shot struck the animal in the head; the second in the shoulder, and the third and last went through the animal's heart, killing it. She then stepped down to the bank of the slough, unmoored a small boat, rowed to where the buck lay floating in the water, pulled the carcass into the boat and succeeded in getting it on shore before any of the men folks appeared. The buck when dressed weighed 200 pounds. Miss Mollie is 18 years old, and is a chip of the old block, N' Jersey.

HOW TO BE A "NOBODY."—It is easy to be a nobody, and the following tells how to do it: Go to the drinking saloon to spend your leisure time. You need not drink much now, just a little beer or some other drink. In the meantime, play dominoes, checkers, or something else to kill time, so that you will be sure not to read any useful books. If you read anything, let it be a novel of the day. This goes on keeping your stomach full and your head empty, and yourself playing time-killing games, and in a few years you will be a first-class nobody, unless you should turn out a drunkard or a professional gambler, either of which is worse than nobody. There are any number of young men hanging about saloons just ready to graduate and be nobodies.

IMPUDENCE.—The most brazen piece of impudence that has come to our notice in a long time, says the Democrat, is a damage suit for $5000 brought by Hogan, the wheat swindler, against J. C. Yates of Lane county, who swore to the complaint under which Hogan was brought back from California. The idea that Hogan's character could be damaged by being called a swindler would produce a broad smile on the countenance of every farmer who bought wheat of him, if they were in the laughing mood, but as they are not in that business now, they can only grit their teeth, and long for an opportunity to vigorously apply a number ten broom to that portion of his body that he sits on when writing.

WHEAT SHIPMENTS.—Wheat shipments, says the Yaquina Post, are now very fair over the Oregon Pacific and Oregon Development Co. lines to San Francisco. If war results in Europe as is generally believed, prices generally will go up like a rocket, when shipments over these lines will be immense.

THE "WIM. M. HOAG."—The new steamer of the Oregon Pacific Railroad company has been christened the "Wim. M. Hoag," in honor of the vice-president of the road. She has received her machinery from the Willamette iron works at Portland, and the painters and carpenters are at work on the interior of her cabins. She will be ready for inspection in a few days. The Wim. M. Hoag is probably the lightest draught boat afloat in the Willamette.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.—George Buhl, of the firm of Buhl & Kellenberger, lunchers of this place, on Sunday last met with quite a painful accident by being thrown from his horse while driving a calf. He was unconscious when picked up, having sustained some injuries inwardly. His right arm was also severely bruised. Mr. Buhl extends thanks to those who assisted him to his home and otherwise kindly cared for him.

LUMBER YARD.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Hammer Bros. of Spicer have established a lumber yard at that place and will handle the celebrated McKinzie lumber, manufactured at Coburg. These gentlemen are through business men and all orders given them will be promptly filled with the best of satisfaction. They will handle everything desired by builders and contractors. Give them a call.

ALBANY CITY ELECTION.—At Albany on Monday last the following candidates were elected: Mayor, J. L. Cowan, democrat; recorder, N. J. Horton, republican; marshal, I. Hays, democrat; treasurer, F. L. Kenton, republican; Councilmen—B. F. Tabler, republican; Julius Gradwohl, democrat; G. Goin, republican. The vote to increase the annual tax from five to six mills for sewer purposes, carried.

FINGER AMPUTATED.—A young man named Frank Link, of Sweet Home, who had the index finger of his right hand nearly severed by an edging saw in the Onesta saw mill at Yaquina on Thanksgiving morning found it necessary to have it amputated on Monday last. Dr. Courtney of this place performed the operation, and the healing process is setting in finely.

DIED.—At the residence of Mrs. Gentry, in Lebanon on Sunday evening December 3, 1887, of consumption, Mrs. Jane Hall. Mrs. Hall had been sick for more than a year. She leaves a husband and one child fifteen months old. The funeral obsequies took place on Wednesday at the Masonic cemetery.

SEVEN EVENING CONCERT.—On Sunday evening next at 7:30, an interesting concert will be given at the First Presbyterian church. A very interesting program interspersed with readings, recitations, songs, etc., will be rendered. All are cordially invited to attend.

NOTICE.—All persons knowing themselves indebted to me for over six months, will please come forward and settle up. I must have money to pay my bills with.

Albert Keys, of Farmington, is the guest of his brother-in-law, J. M. Howe.

Mac. Barrigan, at his camp is getting out some fine timber for the Albany saw mill.

"Harve." Hamilton of Sweet Home, who was in town on Monday last, reports all "O. K." in his locality.

The members of the M. E. church, South Brownsville, held their protracted meeting for the past week.

Latest and most noble styles of watches and jewelry, for Christmas presents can be found at Pillsbury's at prices to suit the times.

On Friday last Donald McRae returned from the logging camp in a disabled condition, from the effects of a cut received on the foot.

West and Althouse, at their logging camp on the upper Calapooya, are busy shooting logs into the river bed, preparatory to a raise of water.

A gold pen makes a beautiful Christmas present. Pillsbury, the Jeweler, has them in gold, pearl, ivory and ebony handles, all sizes at reasonable prices.

A. Gentry, section master on the O. R'y., has rented the dwelling formerly occupied by Mrs. M. E. Wilson, at which place he will reside with his family.

Samuel Templeton, on Tuesday last returned from the McKinzie river mines, bringing with him some mineral specimens giving trace of rich quartz deposits.

Joseph White, road master of the O. R'y., passed north on Monday morning, repairing the telegraph wires which were blown down between this place and Sebe, by the storm of Saturday last.

The first heavy rain of the season commenced on Saturday night, continuing through Sunday and Monday. The storm was accompanied by heavy gusts of wind, coming principally from the southwest.

At the annual election of officers of Brownsville Lodge, No. 36, A. F. & A. M., the following gentlemen were chosen to serve for ensuing Masonic year: J. M. Howe, W. M.; Jay A. Bishop, S. W.; W. T. Cochran, J. W.; C. E. Stannard, Sec'y.; Peter Hume, Treas.

At a regular meeting of Dowdall Lodge No. 16, K. of P. the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. H. Younger, C. C.; J. B. Wilson, V. C.; S. P. Barger, P.; Curran Cooley, K. of R. and S.; R. J. Blanchard, M. of F.; H. B. Moyer, M. of E.; Silas Powell, M. of A.

SPICER, December 6.

D. F. Hardman sold some fine beef cattle to an Albany butcher the past week.

Mr. J. A. Dobkins, who has been quite ill for some days, is once more able to resume his business.

There will doubtless be several residences erected here during the coming summer, and probably one or two business houses.

Work on the new church has been suspended for a time, on account of inclement weather. Mr. Arnet has completed about one-half of the foundation.

W. R. Hardman, last week purchased a lot adjoining A. A. Bashor, and will probably build thereon the ensuing season. Prof. McGhee is also thinking of building.

The terrible storm which has prevailed for the past few days has no doubt been sufficient to satisfy even the native Oregonian. Rainy weather may be healthy, but it is very inconvenient.

The many friends of Mr. S. F. Hammer are glad to learn that said gentleman's health has been much benefited by his eastern trip. He is now at his old home in Illinois and will not return till spring.

We are informed that Mr. Levi Brower who formerly resided here and who left here in September to engage in the mercantile business at McCleary, Marion county, has been quite successful as a merchant at said place.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. L. Hammer, who recently came here from Illinois, will permanently locate at this place. It is rumored that Mr. H. is negotiating with Mr. E. Keedler for a tract of land adjoining the town.

Our present merchant, Mr. J. W. Bell, has his store well filled with new goods and is now ready to accommodate the people at reasonable prices. No longer any need of going to Albany or elsewhere for goods, as farmers can be supplied at home hereafter. We bespeak for Mr. B. a liberal patronage.

ROCK HILL.

December 4.

To see the snow on the hill above us, Friday, one would think winter was at hand, but not forawhile yet.

There were speaking, recitations and declamations at the Rock Hill school house Friday evening. As we did not go we can't say much about it, only presume it was good.

Will, and Morgan Richardson and several others, for sport went up as far as Cedar flat, hunting on last Friday, intending to be gone about a week. We hope they will bring home a nice load of venison.

Cougar are very plentiful in this section, and also coyotes. Some of the boys took dogs and guns on Saturday and went coyote hunting on the butte. As to whether they got any seals or not we don't know, but hope they did.

The farmers around here have all hung up their implements for 1887, it being too late to sow any more grain. The grain sown this fall will be a large amount, for every farmer took advantage of the good weather while it lasted.

Mr. A. Dodge has been under the weather for some time with a sore jaw. He has not been able to be out doors. He has been suffering a great deal from the effects of pulling a tooth and getting cold in his jaw. He is liable to have a long spell of sickness.

This place which promises to become a fair village, is situated on the Brownsville road, four miles south of Lebanon; has a good school, numbering about twenty-five scholars, with Mr. J. E. Eastman, teacher. Mr. J. Nickels is proprietor of the blacksmith shop, and does a good business.

RAMBLER.

OAKVILLE, December 5.

Dr. G. W. Gray is making some improvements on his house.

Edward Albright has bought a part of Johnson White's farm and has located there.

Mr. I. N. Smith of Halsey, is visiting his many friends here. Also Mr. Brown of Kansas, is a visitor among friends at this place.

The Oakville Temperance Alliance meets on Friday evening next. The Alliance has done good work during the autumn campaign, and the defeat does not discourage them in the least.

There has been more grain sown in this neighborhood this fall and winter, than ever before in one season. Fifty and sixty cents per bushel is evidently a great inducement to farmers to increase their crops. S. A. Y.

SCIO, December 6.

Very wet for the dry season.

And still it rains. Our town is very quiet. An occasional drunk and disorderly sometimes makes an addition to the treasury, by the way of a fine, and, sometimes a boarder at the city's expense.

Our city election came off yesterday. A wet and dry ticket was put in the field, and though it rained all day the dry ticket was a dozed or more ahead at the closing of the polls, so Scio says hurrah for local option!

Now, as we don't get prohibition, let us have local option throughout Linn county. Why not? No more "monkeying" after this in our democratic Linn. So mote it be. SCIO.

THE NEW PUBLIC DANGER.

The rapidity with which the so-called trust monopolies have been springing into existence of late has made the subject one of grave importance to the public. The Standard Oil Trust is of long standing, and its successful efforts to crush all individual refiners and exporters of oil have become history. Now we have a cotton seed oil trust, gas trusts, big and little, a sugar trust, a salt trust, a lead trust and a whisky trust, and there is no reason why we should not soon have a grain and flour trust, and in fact a trust in control of every article that has become, in any degree, a necessity of human existence or comfort.

These new combinations to monopolize the production and sale of given commodities are unknown in law. They are neither corporate nor individual enterprises, but a mysterious combination of all the chief corporations and individuals engaged in the business they seek to control. Being organized without law, their promoters naturally claim exemption from legal control or restriction, and it must be said that so far the trusts have been allowed to be a law unto themselves. No one outside of the parties engaged has ever been allowed to see the articles of agreement under which one of these trusts is conducted, and in many instances it is claimed that the officers and stockholders of the individual corporations composing the trust are not allowed to see the agreement under which they are supposed to be doing business.

That these secret mysterious organizations are a menace to the public interests can scarcely be doubted. They are intended to make money for the few who engage in them and to prevent others from making money who may prefer to engage in the same business on their own account. Their sole object is to command a high price for articles controlled, with the addition that none but members of the trusts shall reap the advantages of the high prices. Profits will be placed at a very low figure temporarily to crush out a competitor only to be advanced when competition has ceased. They work a two-fold evil in enhancing the price of the necessities of life and driving hundreds of people out of legitimate business who should have been granted them a comfortable livelihood.

Just at present the trusts seem to be having their own way, and their promoters and beneficiaries are exulting what the public is going to do about it. It is evident that if the public does not do something about it, a very heavy tax will have to be paid in the end for this negligence. The prices of all the necessities that can be controlled by these small and select aggregations of capitalists are sure to be kept higher than they would be if the law of natural competition was allowed full force. The next attraction is Senator Sprague, that he knew of nothing more selfish, cruel and heartless than a million of dollars, except if he be two millions, will be verified with a vengeance in the case of these gigantic trusts, if they are not brought under some sort of control.

let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption. Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.

The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All these diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, consult with thousands of people who can tell you they have been cured by it, and "know how it is themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is hindered, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cures in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and during the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies.

Without Relief, I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovell, M. D., Charleston, South Carolina.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. —M. A. Bus, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Croup, which grew worse and settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I expectorated spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally Cured By Using two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. P. Henderson, Southborough, Penn.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my Cough. I continued to take this medicine, and was cured.—Ernest Colton, Lehighburg, Ind. If
